Humans allergic to almonds or joy should probably steer clear of our intricate take on pesto. On that note, customers with any food allergies/intolerances are strongly advised to exercise caution when choosing which menu item(s) to devour and, if uncertain, ask a staff member for insight. We will always do our best to meet individual dietary needs, but the slight possibility of a breach may linger, particularly in an Italian-cuisine-based eatery where, for example, unavoidable and invisible gluten particles may float slowly, excitedly, patiently, predictably, quickly, unpredictably, opportunistically, and silently through the air...
